Indigenous Nations

Selkirk College acknowledges the traditional territories of the First Nations of the West Kootenay and Boundary regions: the Sinixt (Lakes), the Syilx (Okanagan), the Ktunaxa and the Secwépemc (Shuswap) Peoples. The mountains, rivers, lakes and lands of these territories have sustained life and human communities since time immemorial. Learning and education have been part of this land for millennia.

Selkirk College is grateful to the keepers of these territories where we live and learn, and the wisdom and beauty that surrounds us.

Selkirk College is honoured to work with an engaged and proud Métis community who make the West Kootenay and Boundary region their home.

We honour and celebrate the values, cultures and ways of knowing that all Indigenous learners bring to Selkirk College.

The Paddle

The Sturgeon Scale Paddle leading today's convocation ceremony was made by artist and scholar Shawn Brigman, PhD. Dr. Brigman is an enrolled member of the Spokane Tribe and a descendant of the Columbia Plateau First Nations: snǵáyckst (Sinixt), sənpǵʷilx (San Poil), and Tk'emlúps te Secwépemc (Shuswap).

In the summer of 2022, I commissioned Dr. Brigman to make the Salishan paddle as a gift to the current president, Dr. Maggie Matear. This passing of the paddle was a gesture of welcome, encouragement and respect as she took up her new position.

Paddles connect people to water. Paddles embody action, skill, confidence and forward motion. Paddles are necessary for the paddler and their boat to work with water, to move ahead with intention, to change one's bearing, to safely navigate swift currents, to hold to a course in troubling cross winds, or to simply enjoy stretches of calm. Without a paddle, paddler and boat are adrift.

To the 2023 graduates of Selkirk College, as you take hold of your parchment when crossing the stage today, you are being handed a paddle that you have earned with hard work and courage. Take hold of it with joy and in the spirit of the seven teachings. Your education is among your most important life paddles, it will support you to achieve a remarkable future, through swift currents and calm reaches, through crosswinds and river bends. Cherish your education. Hold fast to your paddle. Congratulations on your journey.

Angus Graeme, Past President (2011-2022)

Using materials from the land, the artist has beautifully captured the relationship between people, the land, and the rivers, lakes and mountains of the traditional territories on which Selkirk College is so honored to operate. The seven sturgeon scales inscribed on the paddle signify the seven life teachings of humility, courage, honesty, wisdom, truth, respect and love.

Congratulatory Message

We hope this accomplishment brings you not only a great sense of pride but that it imparts a sense of responsibility. You are now part of a vast network of Selkirk College alumni who are leaders, community capacity builders and all-around go-getters achieving great things all over the world. We are so very proud of you, and excited about the legacy of learning, resourcefulness and goodwill you will create in your communities.

On behalf of the Selkirk College Board of Governors, faculty and staff, we wish you continued success in your journey, wherever it might take you.

Sincerely,

Margaret Sutherland, Chair of the Board of Governors

Dr. Maggie Matear, President

2023 Valedictorian

Shelby Bell, Rural Pre-Medicine

With a fondness for rural lifestyle and a determination to pursue an education that leads to a career in health care, Shelby Bell found a perfect beginning at Selkirk College. Graduating from high school a year early in her hometown of Qualicum Beach on Vancouver Island, she started the three-year Rural Pre-Medicine Program in September 2020 during a less-than-perfect time.

“It’s very difficult to deal with so much uncertainty. But in the grand scheme, life is full of uncertainty on a day-to-day basis. For me personally, COVID-19 really instilled resiliency and made me realize that you need to understand that you don’t always have control over what is happening. You have to find ways to hit your goals in the best way possible.”

An outstanding academic student, Shelby managed the isolation of the early months of the pandemic by slowly building bonds with a new community of friends and staying physically active on the grounds around the Castlegar Campus, where she lived all three years in student housing. A key member of the college’s Student Ambassador team in her second year, Shelby played an important role in initiating and organizing campus-wide events. Transitioning to Student Ambassador team mentor in her final year, Shelby’s passion for contributing towards an inclusive student body and creating a sense of belonging had a meaningful impact on other learners.

A leader inside and outside the classroom, Shelby places a premium on community involvement. A multi-sport athlete, she will compete in her first half-Ironman in May and complete her Bachelor of Science online through Thompson Rivers University while applying to medical schools. With the ultimate goal of becoming a rural physician, Shelby is inspired by her time at Selkirk College.

“When I look at the work that my peers have put in to get this point, it is just incredible. It feels good to be around a group of well-rounded individuals who are passionate about what they do. Seeing the type of people who are interested in being part of the health care sector during this very difficult time, it’s very heartening and gives me hope for the future.”

2023 Valedictorian

Kiel Harvey, Bachelor of Science in Nursing

Connections are a vital component of successful education and fulfilling careers, but Kiel Harvey wasn't feeling it in his first two forays into post-secondary at large universities. When he found his way to Selkirk College and the Bachelor of Science in Nursing Program, the relationships he built with faculty and the passion witnessed in peers provided the energy he now carries into a new career.

“I really enjoy connecting with people, and nursing is unique in that respect. You are in a position where you are working with people during vulnerable times of their life. Because of that, you have an ability to open up and be curious about their humanity and lived experience. It's hard to do that, but it is one of the beautiful elements of nursing.”

After graduating high school in Alberta and not finding that post-secondary spark, Kiel spent much of his 20s exploring the world through travel and pursuing his love of outdoor sport. In his early 30s, Kiel returned to formal education where he found the right fit at Selkirk College.

A stellar academic student, Kiel's vigour for learning at all levels translated into a long list of accomplishments during his four years. A leader among his peers, he represented the college on the Canadian Nursing Student Association and as a BC Nurses' Union student member while volunteering for external community organizations such as ANKORS. When the pandemic hit and vaccines became available in 2021, he was a student immunizer at public clinics. In the spring of 2022, he travelled with other Selkirk College students to rural Uganda to deepen his global knowledge by learning from community and health care professionals during a two-month practicum.

Entering a career with vast opportunities, Kiel will begin his post-college journey working for Vancouver Coastal Health specializing in emergency medicine, and he is excited to start giving back.

“Going to post-secondary takes a lot of sacrifice from other people in our lives. Investing in yourself to get an education requires a lot of support from the rest of the community, so you can ultimately come back as a person who can then build up your community with your unique strength. When you give back, that is how education works best.”
